The Microsoft Settlement has now been decided and must be allowed to go forward.

The States, especially California, which have chosen to proceed with their suits are just grandstanding. The money they propose to use in this pursuit could be better used to help house and feed the homeless, provide better mental health services, repair roads, etc., rather than being thrown down a rat hole.

It is time that our public officials stop their waste of our money -- give up the vendetta against Microsoft -- and be prepared to be accountable!
